Calligraphy letters practice sheets

Hey, folks! I've been teaching some local handheld font classes lately, and as I've been putting together some resources for students, I've decided to create a nice, new set of brush font practice sheets. These sheets are designed specifically to help you handle the lowercase brush alphabet. I tested them last night with a large group of women {plus Little Crafter} in the local library, and they were a hit. Each letter has three examples for you to look at, then some lighter color examples to follow with a pen so you can get a sense of how the upstrokes and downstrokes of this letter work. Then there's about a line and a half of lined space for you to practice on your own. As always, I believe that practice makes progress, so the more you write a letter, the better you will get to it! So fill in the lines... There are two simple ways you can use this site brush writing practice. 1. Download them to your computer, then print and use with brushes. Tombow Fudenosuke is perfect for use on this site because the tip size is the perfect match for examples. If you like, you can also fill a line with a dual brush pen to practice with two different types and sizes of pens. 2. Download them on your iPad Pro and open them in the Procreate app. If you're lucky enough to have an iPad Pro and want your sign to be digital, just open each page in procreate, then use Apple Pencil to track down examples and write your own. The best part is that you can always erase and reuse training sheets as many times as you like! The specific brush I use is called Light Kaligraphy and is available at Creative Market. As you get more comfortable with the letter, feel free to use additional lines to practice decorating too. There is no wrong way to use these sheets! The key is just to choose what works best for you and get started. Here's where to catch them: Download the brush small print alphabet training sheets Just click on the link above and you'll see all six sheets. Each one has 4-5 letters on it, so you have to download all six for the entire alphabet. I hope these will help you in your lettering journey! You want more? The recommended copy paper is the HP Premium32 Paper. Be sure to set the printer scaling to fit the page. The printer I am currently using is the HP Color LaserJet Pro MFP M281cdw. I caught it at Costco at a great price! Use the Workbook to save the JPG sheet to your iPad and open Procreate. Click the + sign, and when holding your iPad in portrait orientation, choose screen size. Click the key icon in the upper-left corner and select Insert Photo. Select from the photos.jpg sheet with the inscription. Adjust the size of the sheet to fit in the canvas. From the Layers panel, click the + button and add a layer for typing. In this way, you will not have letters on the same layer as the sheet. I recommend using dnd basic brush from my first bundle of procreate brushes. Set the brush size to about 6% on the slider, as shown in the figure above, and then adjust the size as needed, depending on which sheet you are using. You can start by reading my post all you need to know to learn handwriting. This is a great start if you know absolutely nothing about handmade font. If you need help practicing your technique or just prefer videos, you can check out this post for my recommendations on the class inscriptions page that you can take for free: The best online handheld font classes you need to make right now. What pens are best for handwriting? You don't need any fancy and expensive brush pens to start with handmade. If you have a couple of Crayola brands at home, you're ready! Crayola marker does not have a brush tip, but it is still one of the most popular pens for writing. If you still want to invest in some quality brush pens, here are my recommendations: Tombow Dual Brush Pen – These brush pens have two sides. On the one hand you will find a flexible brush tip, and on the other hand there is a fixed fine that can be used to add minor details to your work or repair minor repairs. Tombow Fudenosuke – This brush pen has a small brush tip that is much easier to learn with than a larger tip brush pen. If you are a handmade font novice, then this pen I would recommend you get. Pentel Arts Pocket Brush Pen - This brush pen is a fairly economical and affordable brush pen. The pen is refillable, so when the bristles wear out, you just need to replace it instead of buying a brand new pen, which is longer than other brush pens. What's the difference between handmade and calligraphy? In short, calligraphers write letters, letters draw them and suggests a type form to make the written word more readable. Another big difference is the tools and techniques used to create handwriting or calligraphy. What does handwriting mean? A handheld font is essentially drawing letters using as many strokes as necessary instead of typing them using the keyboard. It's different from calligraphy, where we use basic strokes to create letters and words. Especially for this reason, handwriting can be a great alternative for projects that are too large for calligraphy, such as large whiteboards and other markings. For these printable worksheets, you'll need: Download the PDF printables below, print them on brush pen friendly paper (i.e. HP Premium Choice Laser Jet Paper) and start writing! You can either draw directly on it, or grab a piece of paper tracking and go through it as many times as you like. Tips for handwriting to ensure that you get the most out of your training time, here are some tips that can improve your font instantly: Keep your pen at a 45 degree angle when typing Pick up the pen after each stroke Go slow! As you slow down, your moves will be much more consistent. Read more handwritten font tips here!
